

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints' Family History Library in Salt Lake City <www.familysearch.org> is home to the largest genealogical collection in the world—including 2.4 million rolls of microfilmed records from around the globe. But you don't have to go to Salt Lake City to tap that colossal resource. The church has a network of branch Family History Centers where you can rent microfilm from the collection, and there's likely one in your area. Find the center nearest you in this state-by-state and province-by-province directory for the United States and Canada.
